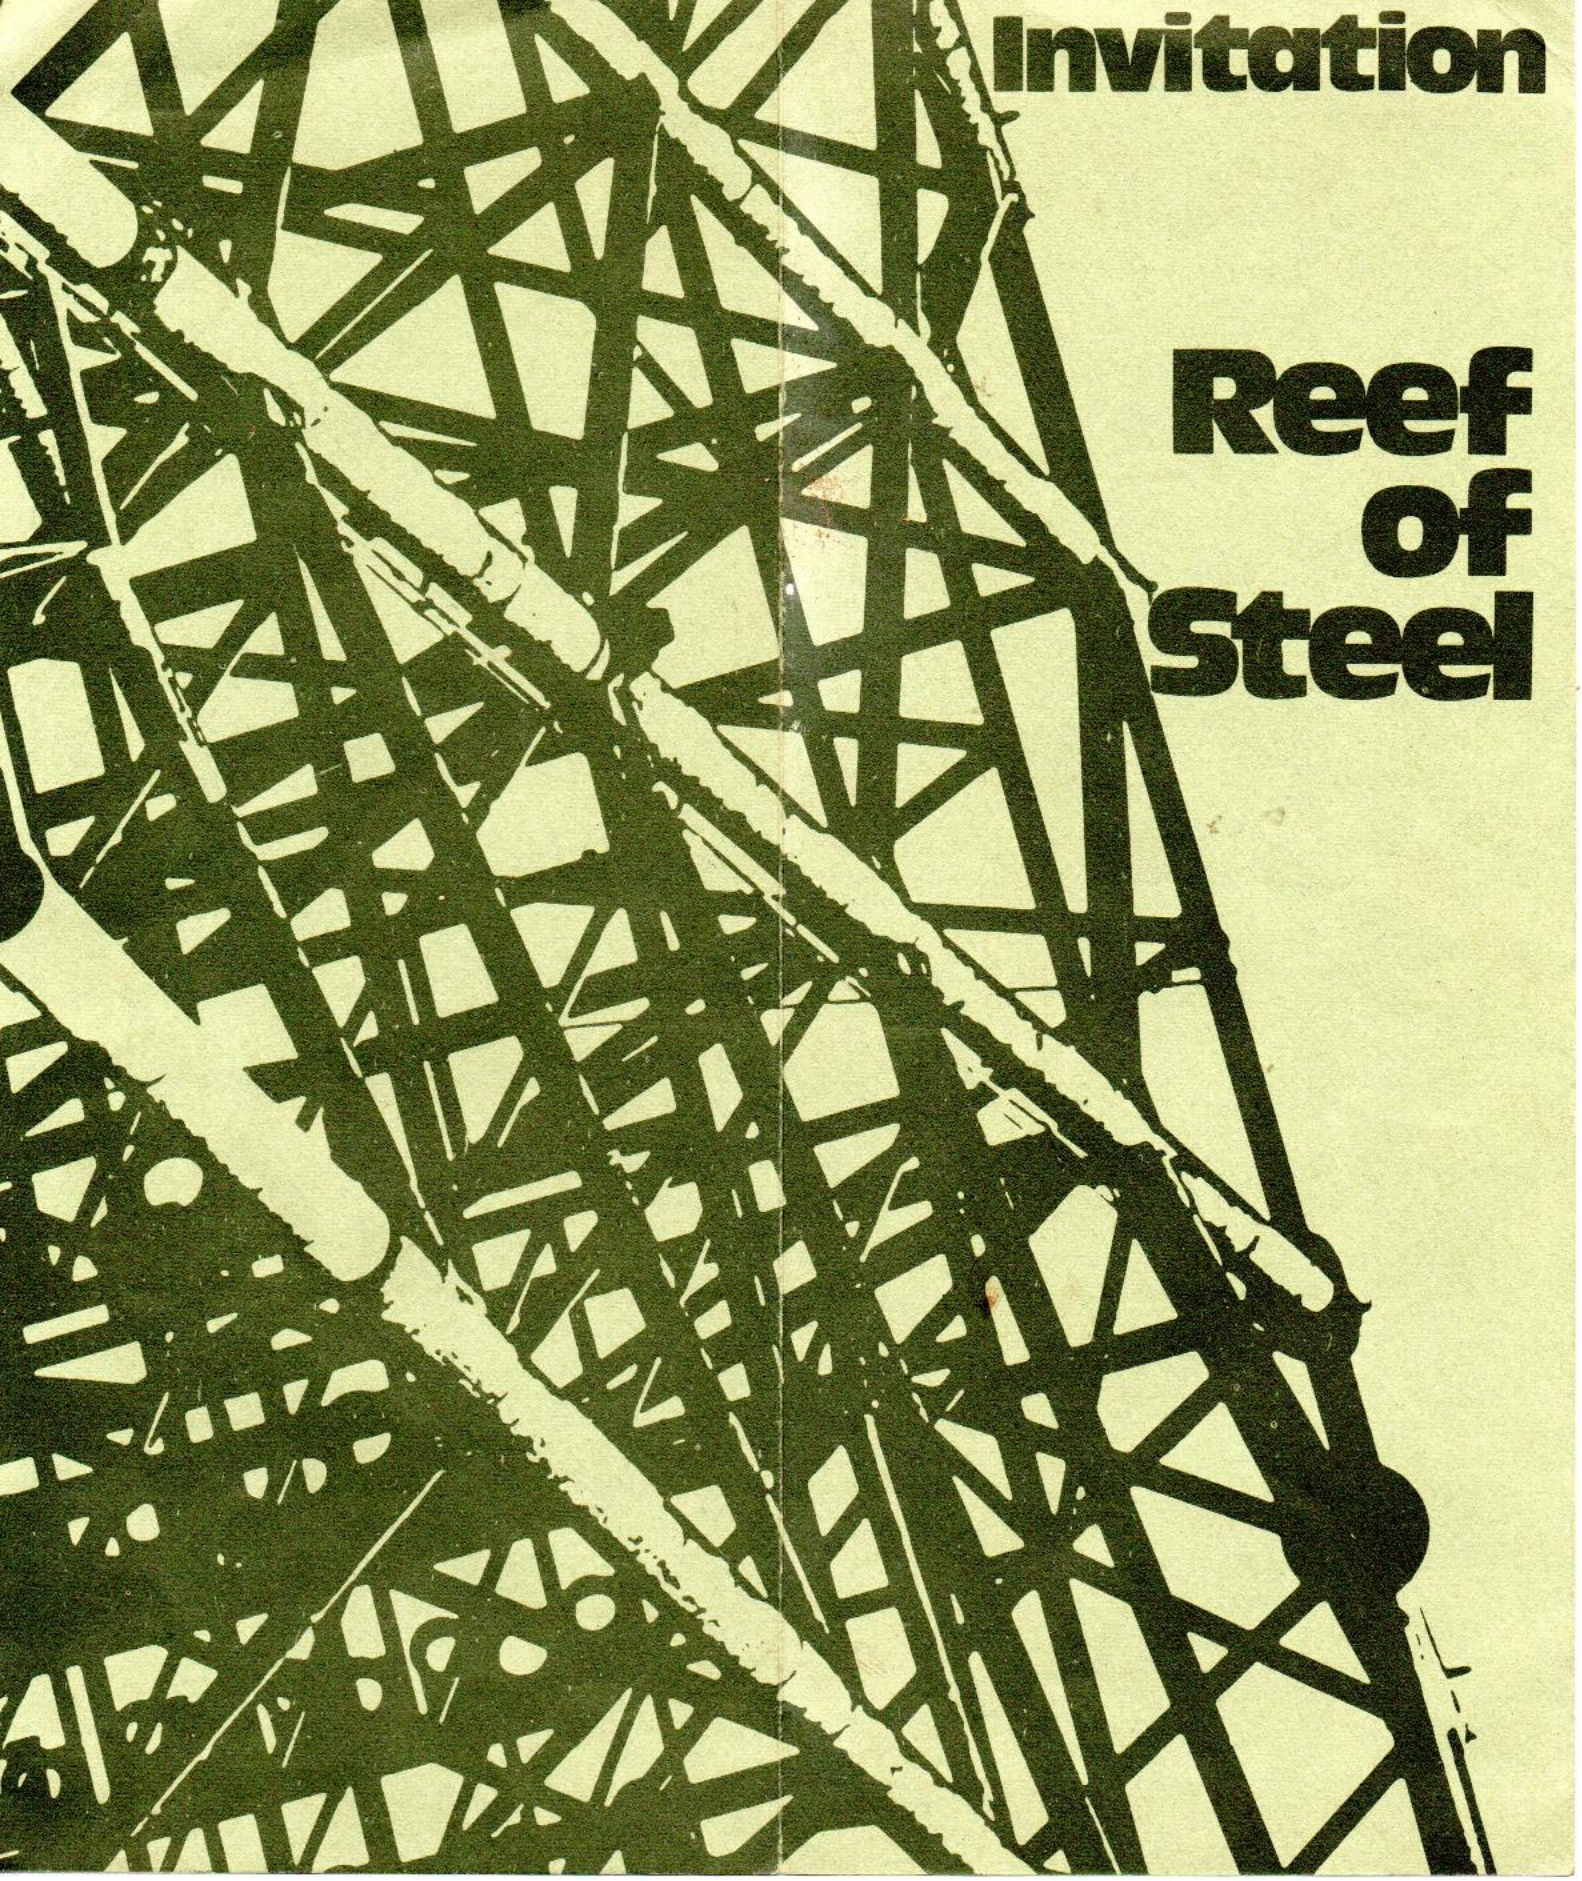
Reef of Steel



'Reef of Steel' is a new film produced by Henri Bource Productions for BHP and Esso. The film shows how an offshore platform, in this case Barracouta, has become an artificial reef in the five years since it was positioned in Bass Strait.
Marine experts Bob Warneke and Jeanette Watson explain how this new marine environment has come about.
In the film, Henri Bource shows marine life at a nearby natural reef in Bass Strait and compares it with the ecology around a new reef – Barracouta.
